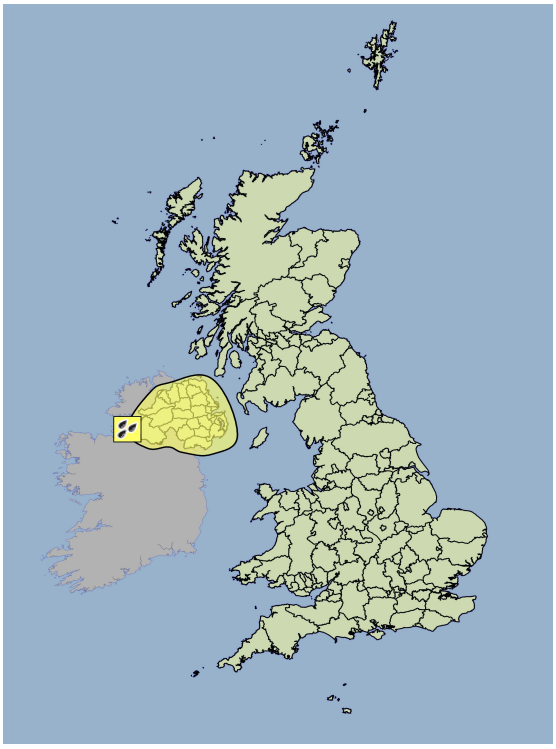
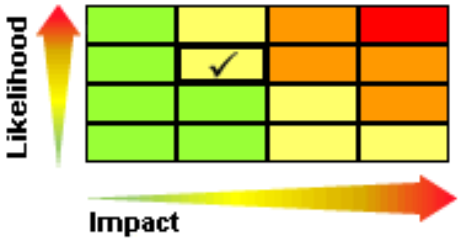
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A slow-moving depression just to the south will fold further bands of showery, potentially thundery rain into Northern Ireland at times today. A few places could see an additional 20 to 30 mm of rain.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 10:30 on Sun, 23rd Aug 2015 until 20:00 on Sun, 23rd Aug 2015

Further outbreaks of rain, some heavy, will affect the south of the Province this morning. Then after a drier interlude, further heavy showers are expected across northern and eastern areas, including Belfast, later this afternoon and into the evening.

Following heavy overnight rainfall in places, the public should be aware that some minor flooding impacts may occur locally, chiefly affecting road travel.
